position collaborates closely with other development staff and other departments throughout the law school and across the University.

Job Responsibilities:

As a collaborative leader, the Associate Director will work with the Assistant Dean, Development and Alumni Relations to further develop, implement, and oversee USF School of Laws major gift program with particular emphasis on building the major gift program through extensive qualification and cultivation of School of Law alumni. The Associate Director will spend significant time out of the office meeting with prospects and donors. The Associate Director will also be responsible for evaluating, reporting on, and recommending changes or adjustments to the major gift strategy, as needed. Key duties and responsibilities for this role include:

Managing a personal portfolio of 100-125 prospects, developing ongoing personal relationships with those prospects.

Making 8-12 face-to-face prospect visits monthly.

Increasing the number of alumni giving to the School of Law year-over-year by identifying and soliciting alumni with major gift capacity and inclination while also upgrading gifts from current alumni donors.

Preparing customized, written solicitations for a variety of School of Law initiatives.

Remaining current on programs and faculty/research/student initiatives at the School of Law and the University as a whole.

Collaborating with the Associate Vice President of Corporate and Foundation Relations and the Director of Gift Planning to ensure multiple major gift funding strategies are being explored for the benefit of the law school.

Collaborating with the University's and the law schools donor engagement and stewardship team to ensure all prospects in the Associate Directors portfolio are being engaged and stewarded.

Other duties as assigned.

Minimum Requirements:

A minimum of five years of progressive and successful development experience, including direct fundraising and volunteer management. Proven success soliciting and closing gifts from individuals. Ability to understand the needs and interests of major donors in order to develop relationships between them and the School of Law, and a demonstrated track record of success with identifying, qualifying, soliciting, and stewarding major donors.

Broad knowledge of the principles of fundraising and the ability to participate in all aspects of the gift cycle.

Experience in the higher education arena highly desirable, with preference for candidates who have experience with comprehensive campaigns.
