The Office of Graduate Student Services (OGSS) for the Tufts University School of Medicine (TUSM) oversees the administrative operations of the Medical School's graduate programs inclusive of admissions, recruitment marketing, registration, career services, student services functions, and clinical site development for more than 1,100 students across the Boston Health Sciences Campus, hybrid programs with residencies, and fully remote students. The Director of Student Affairs reports to the Associate Dean of Student Services and collaborates extensively with each of the programs and their different modalities as well as a multitude of university partners.

At TUSM our graduate programs include residential, online, and hybrid and our hybrid programs have residencies in Boston, Phoenix, and Seattle. These different modalities mean that there are different needs for each program. Student engagement is an area OGSS plans to grow, and we look for a leader who can partner with these varied academic areas to tailor programs for their students.

OGSS is excited to fill this role with an energized individual looking for the opportunity to bring growth and change to our student community. We seek an individual with the ability to be a capacity builder and a creative problem solver to help lead OGSS Student Affairs and position us for a future of growth.

What You'll Do

This role is offered as hybrid (combination of onsite and remote) where you are required to be onsite at our Boston, MA Health Sciences campus 2-3 days per week. Specific days and schedule will be determined between you and your manager.

The Director of Student Affairs is a leadership role responsible for serving the students of TUSM's graduate programs. The primary emphasis for the Director is the management and evolution of programs, of services, and of accommodations to support student engagement and success. The Director will lead initiatives to advance student engagement, ensure access to student resources, and build partnerships with academic leadership.

Specifically, the Director is responsible for the oversight of major student programming (program-specific orientations, commencement, awards dinner, poster contest, Public Health Week, Peer Guide program, conference receptions, Student Senate elections, etc.), management of student accommodations, the student handbook, student government and related activities and funds, student engagement, and the growth of the alumni network.

The Director will be an experienced student affairs leader well-versed in current trends of higher education, preferably with experience with and knowledge of the emerging needs of graduate students and a history of partnership and collaboration
