Founded in 1865, Bowie State University (BSU) is Maryland's oldest Historically Black College or University (HBCU) and is one of 12 constituent institutions of the University System of Maryland. With an enrollment of more than 6,300, BSU is a diverse university whose students, faculty, and staff represent many ethnic and cultural backgrounds. BSU is centrally located in one of the nation's most exciting metropolitan areas within easy reach of Washington, DC, Baltimore, and Annapolis, and boasts a serene, 337-acre suburban campus.

The new dean will inherit a collection of quality programs, a talented faculty and a student body looking ahead toward being prepared with a solid foundation for successful careers. The new dean will be charged with creating an environment to foster continuous learning and improvement that will address the University's commitment to research while embracing the unique role played by a Historically Black College and University.

The new dean will possess an earned doctorate in a related field, have a proven record as a scholar and educator, and bring significant academic and leadership experience to this position. A clear understanding of and commitment to the role of HBCUs in educating the next generation of leaders is essential.

A complete leadership profile, along with additional information about the University, may be found here: <https://www.agbsearch.com/searches/college-of-business-dean-bowie-state-university> .
