Job Description

The Assistant Director of National Recruitment leads Auburn University's recruitment and matriculation efforts on a national scale, focusing on emerging markets and enhancing Auburn's visibility and reputation. This position involves the design and execution of targeted programming, data-driven strategy development, and management of staff and territories. The Assistant Director serves as a key resource for prospective students and families across the country, ensuring a seamless admissions process while building relationships with stakeholders to expand Auburn's reach.

Travel & Schedule: This position requires extensive travel (15-20%), bringing the Auburn experience to communities throughout the region. You'll also need flexibility to work some nights and weekends to connect with students and families when it matters most.

This job may be eligible for remote work per university guidelines and policies.
